

PORTLAND WOMAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Extent of Miss Neilson's Injuries Not Fully Determined by Attending Physicians.

A distressing accident took place at the corner of Capitol and D streets late Saturday afternoon, when an auto driven by Geo. N. Will collided with a machine driven by Miss Alta Jones and owned by T. B. Jones. Miss Beesie Neilson, of Portland, a guest of Miss Jones in the auto, was injured painfully, but today it is not thought seriously, while Mrs. J. M. L. Satterley Jr., who was also in the party, received several painful bruises about the arms and chest. Mr. Jones' auto was damaged considerably, while the other machine suffered little damage.

It appears, according to the statements made by those who have investigated the accident, that Mr. Will was driving east on D street and when within a few yards of the intersection of D and Capitol, he noticed Miss Jones approaching from the north on the right hand side of Capitol street. Will called to Miss Jones and the latter immediately applied the brakes. The Jones car skidded up to the intersection just in time to meet Mr. Will and the result was both cars collided. It is evident that both cars were traveling at a good rate of speed as shown by the tracks where they skidded.

Hurled Across Street.

When the machine collided, the Jones car was hurled half way across the street into the curb. The right front wheel was buckled under and the wind shield shattered.

Immediately after the accident, Dr. Morse rushed to the scene in his big touring car and took Miss Neilson and Mrs. Satterley to the Salem hospital. The latter left for Portland this morning, but Miss Neilson is still in the hospital and the extent of her injuries have not been determined as yet by the physicians. However, it is believed that she will recover nicely.

Others in the Jones car were Miss A. Knapp and Roy Edwards, both of Salem, who escaped injury.

Miss Jones is almost prostrated with grief and nervousness as the result of the accident, but according to the circumstances under which it happened, she could not in any way have done more to prevent the collision.

PUBLIC MARKET MASS MEETING SATURDAY

A mass meeting has been called for next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the hall over the Salem Hardware Company's store, to consider a proposition to establish a public market on R. R. Ryan's lots on South Commercial street, next to the Journal block. Mr. Ryan has investigated the subject and is confident that the producer can be saved at least 10 per cent and the consumer 15 per cent by the establishment of the market. He proposes to have 60 stalls in the building and to have it modern in every respect.

Gardeners, fruit growers and other producers and consumers are all invited to the meeting Saturday. It is up to the consumer, as well as the producer, to take a hand, says Mr. Ryan.

Will Plead Guilty.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Roseburg, Ore., July 7.—According to District Attorney Browne, Ray Diamond, the man alleged to have held up the Glendale bank, and who was returned here from Gold Beach, Ore., where his capture was effected, has announced his intention to plead guilty when his case comes to trial. Diamond seems to maintain a cheerful mood at all times, and apparently does not realize the gravity of his alleged crimes.

SALEM MADE RECORD

In the meantime that portion of Court street in which the open air ball was being held, presented a view which attracted thousands of spectators. The crowd about the "dance hall" was crushing and everyone determined to witness the novel event. The Salem Military band furnished the music and the street proved to be an ideal dance floor.

On every street in the city things were fairly seething. Thousands of horns, cow bells and other racket making devices were worked overtime and every man, woman and child proceeded to have a great time. Only four arrests were made during the evening.
